

Lower Gascoyne River Flow Advice N^o 07 2024

Issued by the Department of Water and Environmental Regulation

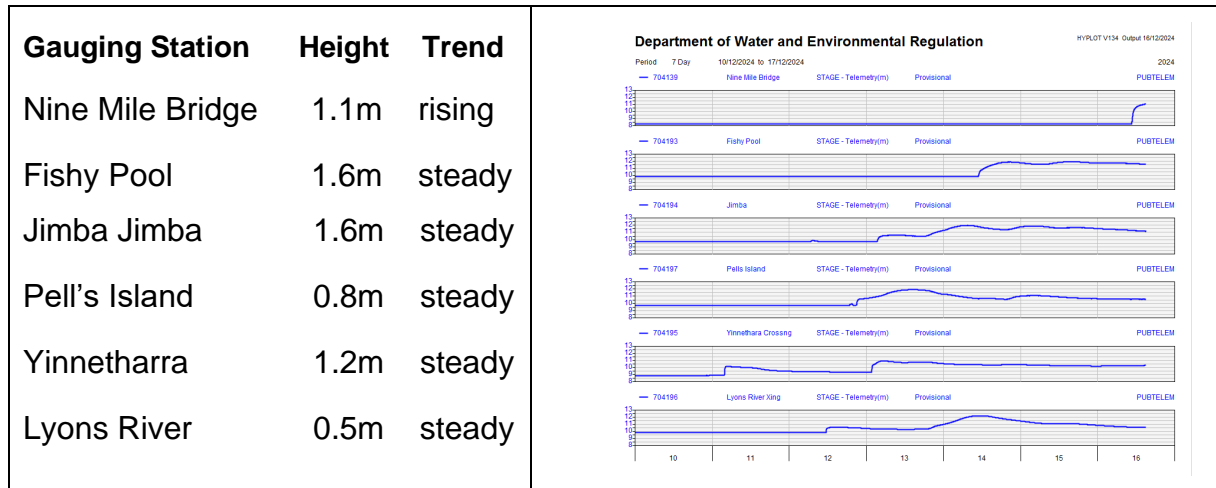

4:00 pm Monday 16 December 2024

The leadwaters in the Gascoyne River arrived at Nine Mile Bridge at 10:30am this morning, with a salinity of 184 mg/L TDS. A peak river level of approximately 2.0m is estimated to arrive at Nine Mile Bridge later today, followed by a series of smaller river level peaks over the next few days.

Growers should continue to refer to the Bureau of Meteorology for regular updates.

The Department of Water and Environmental Regulation will continue to closely monitor the catchment and river levels. No further updates will be issued unless conditions in the catchment change and further advice is required.

Gauging Station levels at 3:00pm this afternoon were:

This advice can be heard by calling 1800 674 897. River level and rainfall data can be accessed at the Bureau of Meteorology at <http://www.bom.gov.au/wa/flood/index.shtml> or The Department's website www.water.wa.gov.au. The above graph can be found on the Department's website at <http://kumina.water.wa.gov.au/waterinformation/wir/reports/publish/704139/te3.htm>

The Department of Water and Environmental Regulation issues this river flow advice (advice) for the benefit of the public. Every effort is made to ensure the accuracy, currency and reliability of this advice, however, changes in circumstances after the publication of this advice may impact on its currency and reliability. This advice should be considered in conjunction with the latest warnings and advice from the Bureau of Meteorology and the Department of Fire and Emergency Services and it is the responsibility of each person reading this advice to make their own enquiries as to any actions that need to be undertaken in response to this advice. Each person reading this advice, to the extent permitted by law, releases and indemnifies the State of Western Australia and its officers, employees, agents and others acting under its control from and against all claims and liability in relation to this advice. In no event shall the State of Western Australia be liable to any person for any loss or damage suffered, directly or indirectly, as a result of the provision of this advice.