2024-25 Coastwest Grants

Introduction

Coastwest grants support land managers and community organisations to address the challenges facing the Western Australian coast - including population growth, development pressures, climate change, and coastal hazards such as erosion and inundation.

Funding is provided to support projects to manage, rehabilitate, restore and enhance coastal sites.

Coastwest is a Western Australian Planning Commission initiative, administered by the Department of Planning, Lands and Heritage.

Consultation and Aboriginal Heritage

It is important that all stakeholders impacted by project activities are consulted in the project planning process. This may include the local community, neighbouring landholders or groups who also use or have an interest in the project area.

Have stakeholders been consulted or engaged with in preparation for this project?

Yes

No

If Yes, please confirm the stakeholders consulted and their response.

What opportunities exist for them to get involved?

How will the broader community know about the project?

Project partners City of XXXXXX and XXXXXX Primary School have been consulted about the project and are supportive of the project aims and objectives. XXXXXX Primary School wishes schoolchildren to be involved in on-ground activities and learning opportunities.

The local community sees our work in action as volunteers and contractors work along the edges of shared use paths (SUP) used by tens of thousands of people annually. We often engage the community members in conversation. We have a brochure that we hand out and the newsletter of the local residents' association features our work. Notices of special events are posted on the fence line of the SUP. We also post our events on our website and Facebook page. All plant labels include the website address.

Aboriginal Heritage

You must allow enough time to consult with traditional owners and other Aboriginal people with rights and interests in your project area to ensure that activities will not have a negative impact on any cultural heritage values. You are also encouraged to include Aboriginal people in the consultation for your project design and implementation.

Step 1: Aboriginal Heritage Inquiry System

Please begin by accessing the Aboriginal Heritage Inquiry System. This is an online search tool which uses an ArcGIS platform.

Did the search for your project site in the the Aboriginal Heritage Inquiry System produce any results?

Yes - describe results below

No

Please upload the results of your search enquiry.

Project Description

A Please provide a short summary of your project - maximum 100 words. *

The new project will continue previous projects aimed at protecting the biodiversity of the northern end of XXXXXX foreshore, by hand weeding of weed-invaded areas and some infill planting. A contractor would be used for heavier weeding of deep-rooted weeds and in dense bush. The project also monitors wildlife, while recording the occurrence of feral cats and foxes as part of the management of the reserve in partnership with local government. It also seeks to educate the community about the diverse flora and fauna in the reserve by labeling plants and weeds and by providing guided walks.

Must be no more than 100 words. Be descriptive, but succinct. Include a brief summary of who this project is for (i.e. beneficiaries), what you will do (i.e. the activities you will perform), and what effects you expect to result from your activities (outcomes).

B Reason for the project *

The proposed project is required in order to continue the eradication of weeds, the revegetation of weeded and bare areas, and to monitor native and feral animals in the northern portion of XXXXXXXX beach, a limestone coastline with a rich and varied flora and fauna. It has been recognised as of high conservation value by the City of XXXXXXXX's Coastal Foreshore Management Plans (2016 -2026). The reserve is also home to native fauna, including the Southern Brown Bandicoot (Quenda), echidnas, three species of fairy wrens, osprey, and numerous reptiles. It is a documented feeding area for the endangered Carnaby's Cockatoo.

The unusual width of the reserve (up to 230 metres) permits the natural vegetation zoning to be preserved both. Along the coastal path, this zoning progresses from a reef beach vegetation, through Cottesloe Central and South flora, to a banksia woodland on the eastern edge of the reserve.

Weed invasion along pathways and around infrastructure is the main threat to biodiversity, followed by erosion and vegetation destruction caused mainly by people trampling the dunes and the reefs along the coast, particularly during the abalone season. Other threats to biodiversity include feral and domestic cats, foxes, rabbits and illegal pruning by local residents.

Photos are attached.

Reason for the project (attach photographs below to substantiate this).

B Objectives and relationship to coastal plans and strategies *

(i) Contributes to the local coastal management plan in consultation with the City by:

- removing invasive weed species and enhancing biodiversity by replanting local native species,
- funding employment of one or more hand-weeding bush regenerator for intensive efficient weeding,
- identifying fauna and flora in the reserve, and disseminating knowledge about it, and
- fostering sustainable recreational use of the area, running public educational walks each year.

(ii) Friends of XXXXXXXX Beach models its activities on Section 5 of the CFMP (Biodiversity Conservation) including the preservation of the existing areas of highly biodiverse coastal heath within the coastal reserve and the restoration of those parts of the reserve where weed invasion and disturbance are threatening, or have modified, the original vegetation structure. Weed invasion includes the coastal suite of perennial and annual weeds. The coastal foreshore reserve contains in excess of 129 species of native flora (including DRF and Priority species) and contains three vegetation associations.

Friends of XXXXXXXX Beach seeks to eliminate weed invasion by intensive and repeated hand weeding, prior to seed drop. This creates the most favourable environment for natural regeneration of native species, whereas the effects of chemical weeding with herbicides have resulted in little long-term reduction in weeds, and have resulted in native species damage, residual chemical build-up in soils, and poor results in native seed regeneration in intensely sprayed areas. This iteration of the project seeks to build on previous gains in vegetation condition by extending the project area 130m south of the previous boundaries, whilst consolidating previous gains in weed invaded areas.

(i) Set out the main objectives of the project in dot points and show how these are consistent with Coastwest objectives. (ii) Briefly describe the support for the project from relevant coastal plans and strategies. Remember to attach extracts below, do not include entire planning documents.

Methodology *

i) Friends of XXXXXX Beach currently looks after approximately 29 ha. As part of a 5-year strategic plan (copy attached), it plans to extend the project area further southward, whilst continuing to weed and undertake limited remedial planting on existing areas. The new area is approx.1.6 ha.

The existing project area still contains weeds in the seed bank, especially Tetragonia, Carnation Weed, Trachyandra, and Pelargonium, which need to be removed annually until the seed bank is run down. The digging out of deep-rooted weeds in the limestone is too difficult for most volunteers and cannot be carried out without a contract bush regenerator. The existing project areas will continue to receive contract and volunteer weeding, while sufficient money will be allocated to the "new" area each year to employ a contractor to assist with weeding difficult areas. As weeds and the seed bank are gradually run down, the existing project areas will require progressively less work to maintain.

Friends of XXXXXX Beach will continue to hand-weed the bushland of all invasive weed species, and will replant disturbed and weeded areas, with local-provenance plants provided by the Coastal Manager (7 species list attached). It is anticipated that school groups and other volunteers will continue to assist with this work. We will label native and weed species and conduct public guided wildflower walks in spring and early summer. These provide opportunities to educate the community on plant and weed identification and the importance of biodiversity.

(i) How will your organisation undertake the project? (ii) How will your organisation incorporate consultation outcomes and indigenous involvement in project design?

Monitoring evaluation and long-term maintenance *

i) Photo monitoring of some sites has been carried out for up to ten years. This photo monitoring will continue, and as additional degraded areas are added these will be photo-monitored in addition to existing sites.

ii) In the northern part of the project quantitative weed mapping will continue, using GPS, with counts of the weed per square metre shown on large-scale maps. This quantitative mapping of the invasion front has been carried out for 6 years and shows a decline in the abundance of this declared weed due to our intensive hand-weeding. The invasion front is being pushed back along various finger-like extensions, and in certain areas the weed has almost disappeared. However, continued work to eradicate the weed is required, as there is a substantial build-up of seed in the soil which will take repeated weeding to remove.

The success rate of annual plantings has been measured by counting survivors at the end of the first summer. However, the best demonstration of whether the project is successful is the absence of a new crop of grassy weeds in early winter. This (after 3- or 4-years' hand-weeding) indicates the substantial removal of the soil seed bank of annual weeds, reducing future weeding needs.

(i) How will the project be monitored to see if the objectives are achieved? (ii) Give examples of how you will measure the success of the project. (iii) Who will maintain the project in the long term and has this been budgeted for?

Approvals and permits *

The City of XXXXXX is the land manager, and approval has been received to continue working in this Bush Forever site, in the area specified in the project description. (Copy attached)

List any approvals and permits required, from whom, and steps taken to obtain these.

Other funding

Do you have any current applications with other funding sources for this project or components of this project?

- Yes
- No

If yes, provide details of the funding source and how that application differs.

If yes, provide details of the funding source and how that application differs.

Supporting information

You should upload/submit attachments to support your application. This is very simple but requires you to have the documents saved on your computer, or on a storage device.

Allow enough time for each file to upload before trying to attach another file. Files can be up to 25MB each; however, we do recommend trying to keep files to a maximum of 5MB - the larger the file, the longer the upload time.

- Photos are really valuable to support your application. On-ground photos should show the condition of the site including general vegetation and other relevant details. These should be provided in a picture format (preferably JPEG) in the highest possible resolution e.g.1 MB or higher.
- Attach extracts of relevant coastal plans and strategies; do not include entire planning documents.
- For on-ground works attach a site plan and construction drawings for any construction work.
- Provide evidence of community support and appropriate consultation with Aboriginal people and organisations.

Budget and workplan

Budget workplan

The budget workplan is a Microsoft Excel spreadsheet. It is a valuable tool to establish what resources and budget are required to undertake project activities, and who will be funding those resources.

It is a critical component of the application that helps determine if the project is properly planned and costed and shows the project's overall value for money. Applicants MUST use the updated Microsoft Excel template provided in the link below.

Without a completed workplan on the correct template, your application will not be considered. Attach the completed workplan below.

If you do not have access to Microsoft Excel, please contact 6551 9349 or email coastalgrants@dplh.wa.gov.au

In the workplan, applicants must:

- Provide detail on how each expense relates to activities and project delivery
- Show a cost for all expenses and resources excluding GST
- Consider the funding request limits for certain activities
- Limit the request for administration and overhead expenses to a maximum of 10% of the project's total grant request for all other activities
- List all co-contributions of cash and other resources, including the source, quantity and estimated value (do not include GST).

You should also upload any supporting documents or quotations for goods or services. Please see section 5 in the 2024-25 Coastwest guidelines for applicants.
