Eligibility

You may be eligible for an exemption if you own two private residences in transitional circumstances at midnight 30 June. The land occupied as your primary (sole or principal) residence at 30 June is exempt from land tax.

An exemption for the second residence is available if you meet all of the following conditions:

2. You moved from the first to the second residence before the end of the assessment year.
3. You sold the first residence and delivered it to the purchaser during the assessment year.
4. No income was received from either residence while you owned both properties.

Example

When to submit this application form

Apply after you have occupied the property acquired second as your primary residence and settlement has occurred on the property acquired first.
