1. Introduction and Background

In the 2022-23 Budget, the Western Australian (WA) Government announced $41.2 million in funding for international education initiatives. This announcement included $2 million over four years for the Western Australian Premier's University Scholarships Program (the Program).

The Program will run each year for four years (2022-23 until 2025-26), providing funding for up to 10 one-year scholarships annually valued at $50,000 each, to attract two high-achieving international students to each of Western Australia's five universities: Curtin University, Edith Cowan University, Murdoch University, The University of Notre Dame (Fremantle Campus), and The University of Western Australia. Each year, the Program will focus on attracting new students from priority target markets, studying in a range of fields that are linked to priority sectors and industries for Western Australia.

The fourth round of the Program will be open for Semester 1, 2025 enrolments, and the fifth round of the Program will be open for Semester 2, 2025 enrolments. While development of the scholarship criteria will be managed by the Department of Jobs, Tourism, Science and Innovation (JTSI), the application, evaluation and decision process will be administered by each University, with students applying directly to the University of their choice.
